Scholarship

P R O G R A M

Kate and Marty Rifkin founded the KMR Group Foundation because the potential to excel is in every child. The Foundation strives to give under-served children an equal opportunity for success and development through the creation and sponsorship of innovative programs and academic scholarships.

Growing. Living. Learning.

KMR takes deep satisfaction in many different acts of compassion, such as feeding the hungry, protecting children from abuse and providing some measure of comfort to the parents of hospitalized kids. But perhaps the most gratifying aspect of KMR's work lies in the support the Foundation offers to its scholarship recipients. KMR sees this assistance not only as a gift, but as a profound investment in its own community and in our shared future.

The KMR Group Foundation seeks to recognize accomplished students, invest in their potential and assist them in funding their education.

Every spring, the KMR Group Foundation awards a number of scholarships to Vancouver, WA high school seniors for undergraduate study. The scholarships range from $1,000 to $3,500 per school year and may be renewable for up to two years, provided the recipient conforms to the requirements set forth in the award.

Mission Statement

Because the potential to excel is in every child, KMR Group Foundation wants to give children an equal opportunity for success and development through the creation and sponsorship of innovative programs and academic scholarships.

Julia - Scholarship Recipient

"I have always had a passion for cooking and the KMR Group Foundation has made it possible for me to attend the world's premier culinary college — The Culinary Institute of America."
